star struck

This penthouse on Orange Grove Road was inspired by international superstar Aishwarya Rai whose glamour, beauty and exoticism would be interpreted through the sophisticated and elegant interior design of this four-bedroom unit.

Besides imparting the "Hollywood Glamour", the interior design also had to be practical so that the penthouse can easily accommodate overnight guests in the junior master room or even her family members or parents for longer term stays as the Penthouse had been designed for multi-generational living.

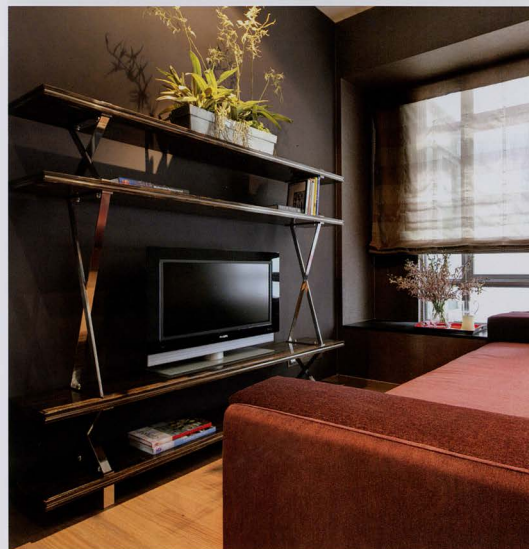

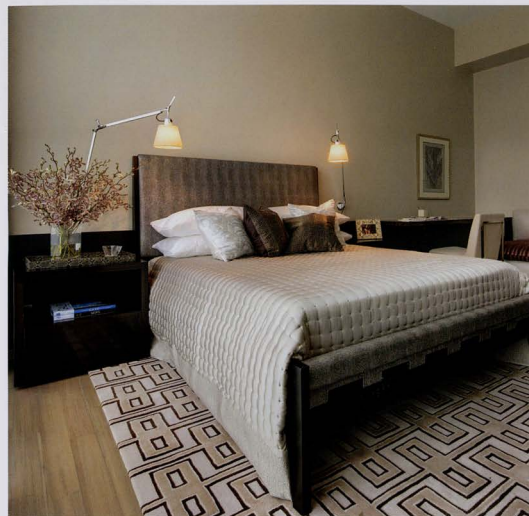

To augment the sense of space throughout the home, the original plan was to change the furniture layout from a traditional living, dining and family room into a Great Room, dining room and to convert the fourth bedroom into the family/TV room.

The Master Bedroom posed another challenge with the high barrel vault ceiling making it somewhat difficult to dress the windows. In order to make the window treatment look glamorous with a barrel vault ceiling, we increased the height of the window treatment to create the effect of a huge window.

Tips

When going for a monochromatic or neutral colour scheme, a splash of intensity by way of a bright coloured sofa or artwork helps to tie the room together and provides relief from monotony that can leave a room looking and feeling clinical or sterile.
